STELMACKER GOES TO JAIL
GUILTY OF ASSAULTING SELIN
Camrose, May 19.—Reinhold Stelmacker of Hay Lake discovered to his cost when he appeared before Magistrate L. R. Jackson, that although the law of self-defence is recognized under justifiable circumstances, it does not permit one man to pound another into insensibility. Stelmacker, along with Geo. Olson of Hay Lake, was charged by Herman Selin, also of Hay Lake, with having assaulted the complainant on the morning of April 30th, causing him grievous bodily harm. Selin was a patient in St. Mary's hospital for a few days as a result of his beating.

The evidence went to show that on the morning of April 30, the dance in the Hay Lake hall had concluded and the crowd, with the exception of Stelmacker, Olson and three friends, had gone. Witnesses declared that Selin entered the hall and began to scuffle with Stelmacker, tearing his vest. In the fight that followed, Stelmacker battered Selin into an unconscious state, and then he and his friends left the hall and Selin was left lying on the ground.

Stelmacker was found guilty of the charge and sentenced to serve two calendar months in jail, or pay a fine of $50.00. He was taken to Edmonton on Tuesday by R.C.M.P. Const. F. Crossley.

For the defence, Edmonton, acted for the prosecution and J. M. C. Coady, Millet, for the defence.

Obituary

JOHN JAMES RIX

Another of our oldest pioneers went to his rest on Wednesday of last week, in the person of John James Rix, after a short illness. He had been a patient in the Wetaskiwin hospital for a short time, where he received the best of nursing and medical attention.

The late Mr. Rix came from a family of pioneers. His father, Thomas Rix, arrived in Canada from England just about 100 years ago, after a two-months' voyage in one of the sailing ships of those days. He had with him his wife and one baby son. They were shipwrecked, but were landed on a rocky island, from which they were picked up and landed at Quebec. They settled near Orillia, Ont., and heaved a farm out of the bush.

Mr. J. J. Rix, the subject of this sketch, was the youngest of the family. He was born on July 23rd, 1845, and in 1872 married Maria Theresa Beard, the daughter of another English pioneer. They farmed for twenty years on the shore of Bass Lake, a beautiful lake close to Orillia. His family were all born there. But he thought of the wide open prairies as a place for his six boys and decided to go pioneering.

He made a trip to this district in 1892, and selected south-east of Wetaskiwin as his future home. Next spring he brought his family and effects and settled on the farm now occupied by his son Herbert.

In 1905 Mr. Rix retired from active farming and moved into town, where he has since resided. His wife predeceased him in 1922 and one son Percy in 1927.

He was converted in the Church of England in 1880, and afterwards identified himself with the Brethren. He has always been a consistent Christian.

He leaves to mourn his departure five sons and two daughters, namely: Mrs. A. J. Ellis, Herbert T., Arthur W., Clayton, Austin, Mrs. Frank Ballhorn, all of the Wetaskiwin district, and Edward of Edmonton, as well as sixteen grandchildren and five great grandchildren. Rev. George Rix, Bishop of Calgary, is a nephew.

The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon, service being held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ellis and at the First United Church, conducted by Rev. A. R. Schrag, assisted by Mr. A. R. Stephenson of Edmonton. The funeral was largely attended both by residents of the city and rural community, especially from the Angus Ridge district. The pallbearers were his five sons and son-in-law, and the interment took place in the family plot in the Wetaskiwin cemetery.

A beautiful floral tribune was received from the sons, Herbert, Arthur, Edward, Clayton and Austin, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ballhorn and Melvin, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Ellis and family, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Ellis and family, Dr. Hoare and Miss Hoare, Mr. W. G. Kaye, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ballhorn, Mr. and Mrs. C. Kreutzfeldt, Mr. and Mrs. E. Recknagle, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ballhorn and Mrs. C. Ballhorn, Mr. G. Thorsen and Mr. Herb. Thorsen, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Millen and Vivian, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Rix, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shantz and others.

Mrs. EVELYN MAUDE YOUNG

Mrs. Evelyn Maude Young, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Liveridge, passed away early on Sunday morning at her home here, at the age of thirty-three years, after an illness of long duration with pulmonary tuberculosis. She was born in Moosemin, Sask., and spent her childhood in Wetaskiwin, coming here about twenty-five years ago. For several years she resided in Calgary. She leaves to mourn her loss, a son, her parents, two brothers and five sisters, and a large circle of friends.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon, service being conducted at the residence by Rev. C. J. Mackay, and the interment took place in the family plot in the Wetaskiwin cemetery.

On account of Tuesday being a holiday, no luncheon of the Wetaskiwin Kiwanis Club was held. The members have accepted an invitation to play an inter club golf game at Edmonton on Wednesday afternoon next.

Following a dainty lunch served by the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. H. B. Hanson, Mrs. H. R. French and Mrs. J. E. Burkholder, the bride was given a piece of string and told to follow it until she found the other end. After a patient untangling of many yards of string she discovered it to the end a pretty pink and white basket filled with many beautiful and useful gifts.

Burkholder, and the Misses Florence Recknagle, Minnie Lunden, Elma Mitchell, Ruby Bye, Helen Switzer, Florence Walker, Jean Walker, Olive Kuehn, Myrtle Johnson, Lillian Caine, Gladys Reimer, Margaret Gullekson, Dorla Kretzfeldt, Dorla Wallace, Dorla Hanna, Arletta Kadlec, Jessie Barker, Lauretta Vickers, and Pat Maynard.

DISASTERS STALK OVER TWO AREAS OF ALBERTA

Calgary, Alta., May 23.—Fire and storm stalked over Alberta during the week-end, causing the death of one man and injuring two others. While other sections of the province were being drenched in a heavy downpour, the towns of Hughenden and Keoma suffered from flames which caused a loss of $70,000 damage. One life was lost at Hughenden.

Lightning accompanying a severe storm caused a fire at Keoma, 35 miles northeast of Calgary, where an Alberta wheat pool elevator was destroyed with heavy loss. About 15,000 bushels of wheat fell prey to the flames. The fire broke out Saturday night and continued until Sunday before being quenched.

Central and southern Alberta farm lands were drenched by heavy rains, while light showers fell in the north. Calgary's week-end downpour was the heaviest. It started Saturday and continued until last Sunday, accompanied by thunder and lightning. Heavy rain and hail struck Cardston and Macleod, breaking numerous windows, but causing no damage to the grain, which was not tall enough to suffer from the downfall.

REGISTERED OATS SUPPLIED TO BOYS

Registered Victory oats of the type with which Herman Trelle won his championship are being distributed to 225 boys in junior outdoor crops of the province. E. L. Gray, field crops commissioner, stated on Tuesday. It is a fine chance for boys to get the best seed.

Through the assistance of the United Grain Growers which is sponsoring the junior feed competitions in oats, a car load of first generation registered Victory oats has been brought to the city from Wembley for distribution to the 17 junior oat clubs. The boy pay the cost of commercial seed only, the U.G.G. providing the further costs.

Oat clubs have been organized at Bon Accord, Willingford, Vegreville, Bow, Camrose, Wetaskiwin, Gaster and other points south to Royall and Nobleford. The clubs have on the average 15 members of the average age of 19 years.

The junior clubs are already looking forward to competing among themselves in the future, and at the provincial seed fair with the world grain show at Regina in 1933 as a goal beyond.—Journal.

BULL MOOSE WRECKS CAR, DIES IN CRASH

Center Osaipie, N.H., May 19.—A bull moose, weighing about 700 pounds, leaped from the side of a road here, crashing into an automobile driven by Munroe Wilcox, eighteen. The windshield was shattered in the collision, causing slight cuts to Wilcox and damages to the running board. The moose was killed.

A joint meeting of the City Council and the Wetaskiwin Community Hospital Board was held in the Council Chamber on Wednesday evening, with Mayor Somers, all the Aldermen, and Messrs. Richard Ballhorn, V. E. Thompson, T. Angus, D. J. Yliden and B. D. Howatt, present.

Chairman Ellis, in opening the meeting, stated that the meeting had been called to select a site for the new hospital, if possible.

As the question of noise and dust had entered into the consideration of Block 55, the secretary read telegrams from Walwright, Stettler and Lacombe regarding conditions in these places. It was also recalled that the provincial architect had said that noise was not to be a factor as only the end of the new hospital would be facing Pearce street.

The question of opening up the matter of additional sites was raised and Ald. Torsen replied stating that the matter of accessibility, drainage and other important requirements had not been found suitable in the other sites owned by the city.

Several of the members present expressed their views on the matter of location of the site, after which it was moved by Mayor Somers, seconded by V. E. Thompson, that Block 55, west of the city park be chosen as the site for the new hospital. All voted in favor of the motion with the exception of B. D. Howatt, who did not think it was in the best interests of the patients to be located so near the highway.

Mayor Somers made the suggestion that the wish of some of the citizens might be considered in asking the Board to erect a tablet or bronze plate in the statue hall, or to put the name of the hospital over the entrance as being a memorial hospital in memory of those who had fallen in the war. He said the veterans of the local Legion had proposed erecting a monument in the park but would waive this idea if their name could be connected with the hospital in some way.

Ald. French stated that nothing had been done in Wetaskiwin for the returned men and suggested that the Hospital Board might call it The Memorial Hospital.

After a brief discussion, a committee consisting of Rich. Ballhorn and Mayor Somers was appointed to inquire from the Legion of the suggestions put forward for commemorating those who had fallen in the great war, and that the board plan to undertake to place a suitable memorial in the hospital for the soldiers.

B. D. Howatt recommended that the board pay the architect the full figure of $750 so that he could engage an inspector of works to work under him. The name of a local man was mentioned, but the matter was left in abeyance.

Coun. Thompson reported that he had taken up the matter of donations with six of the U.F.A. locals, and one local had made a donation of $20.00.

HOUSE GROUP URGES GRADING GARNET WHEAT

Ottawa, May 20.—Recommendation of the grain standard board in 1931 for a separate grading of Garnet wheat, are endorsed by the agricultural committee of the house of commons in a report submitted to the house to take effect for the crop of 1933-34. The board is given a free hand, however, to make changes in the proposed standards if it finds conditions warrant it. The report reads:

"Your committee in view of the evidence presented before them, a printed copy of which is herewith presented to the house, present the following recommendations:

"Your committee recommend that the Canada Grain Act be amended to make operative for the crop year 1933-34 the recommendations of the Western Grain Standards Board, in so far as it relates to the grading of Garnet wheat as contained in the annual report of the board of grain commissioners for Canada for the year 1931. Provided that the said amendments shall have force and effect for the crop year 1933-34, unless the said board shall, after giving due consideration to the evidence given before your committee and conditions then existing, establish standards for the grading of Garnet wheat for the said crop year, different from the standards recommended by the said report of 1931."

Lorna Makes Her List

Outside, cars skidded perilously over slippery pavements, while shivering pedestrians struggled miserably along, fighting a cold, blustering northwest wind laden with a particularly nasty mist of sleet, snow and ice rain. In short, it was ideal weather for garden lovers to sit in the luxurious warmth of a cozy room, choosing flower seeds for spring gardening.

And that was just what Lorna Goddard had been doing—filling in the order blanks included with the various catalogues that covered the little table in her room. With a sigh Lorna closed the last of the catalogues. It was over for another spring. Eagerly she had pored over the pages of catalogues from New York and California, from Iowa,
Ohio, Pennsylvania and Indiana,
from England, France and Switzerland—even one from Holland. And she hadn't enough sunlight in her hall bedroom window to make a geranium blossom! It was a nice game, but sometimes Lorna wondered if it didn't make her more rather than less lonesome for a really truly garden.

On the rooming house stairs
sounded heavy, weary footsteps.

"It's Ted," said Lorna softly, adding anxiously as she heard him cough rackingly. "He is chilled from this storm. I wonder if he'll drink something hot if I fixed it for him."

The coughing grew worse as the footsteps stumbled along the hallway, and the door of the young bus-driver's room creaked open.

"I do wish Mrs. Mitchell were in tonight," thought Lorna. "She would make him take some of that good honeybunch sirup she gives her son—
it stops his cough right away."

The great, rasping coughs continued, each one seeming to tear Lorna's sympathetic heart, for if the truth be known, Lorna thought Ted Manning was quite the nicest young chap she had ever had the good fortune to meet.

"He's tired and cold and miserable—I'm going to set a little tray for him and carry it down to his room. He won't refuse it, I'm sure," said Lorna to herself.

Ten minutes later Ted Manning answered a knock at his door, spied the tray Lorna held, sniffed the steaming fragrance of cinnamon toast and tea and exclaimed impulsively "You little darling how do you guess I was too darned tired to stop and get anything to eat on my way back from work?"

Taking the tray from Lorna's hand Ted said, "Mind if I come down to your room to eat this? My room is as cold as a barn. Some-kid must have thrown a snowball through the window, for there's a pane broken."

Lorna was glad she had finished the new pillow covers which matched the chintz couch cover. The bright covers made her little room look like a real sitting room, especially since there was no regulation bureau, but just a big chest of drawers on top of which stood candlesticks and a few books between pretty bookends.

Lorna started to one side the scattered catalogues, making room on her table for Ted's tray. Eagerly, hungrily, Ted ate the toast and drank the steaming tea, together with a generous slice of cake. Then, as his eyes fell on the English catalogue, he looked up in surprise, saying, "What in the world are you doing with that?"

"It has such lovely pictures," faltered Lorna.

"Hasn't it, though," exclaimed the man. "Makes me homesick. My father used to order his new seeds
every year from one of these books."
Turning over the pages, Ted came to the list Lorna had made. There were enough seeds listed to stock a dozen greenhouses.

In answer to the unspoken query
in the man's eyes, Lorna said, "I—I just pretend that I'm ordering seeds for all the flowers I'd like to have. I fill in all the lists in all the catalogues I get. You see," she added, wistfully, "I used to have a real garden—when I had a home."

"So did I—when I had a home," said the man. And then, reaching over, he took one of Lorna's nice, capable little hands in both his nice, capable, big hands and looking straight into her blue eyes, said,
"How would it be if you and I had a home—and a garden?"

The happy smile she gave him
told his answer.
Late that evening, when Lorna was alone, she snatched up a bit of the paper and jotted down a number of names, none of which were in the least like those which appeared on the elaborate lists she had prepared for the other men.

"Radishes," she murmured, as she wrote. "Ted likes the little early red ones. And broad beans—he said we'd better send to England for those. And parsley—he likes them fried. And lettuce—he wants lettuce all year round. He says he'll build a little cellar window greenhouse to make sure of having some started early. And was beans.

Swiftly Lorna wrote, her face far more radiant than it had been when she had written such romantic words as ivory sweet peas, vis-taria butterfly, gold medal hybrid larkspur, bluish pink gypsophila, true blue ageratum and rose godetia, for now, though she might write beets or spinach, peas or chard, every word meant love.

CLEAN OUT THE ATTIC

Eleanor Dare in the Canadian Home Journal has some good sound advice to offer in the matter of spring cleaning. She says:

Many of us are born magpies in instinct. We tick away everything we are not using with the idea that "some day" we shall want it. That mythical "some day" which never seems to come. We discard a dress, hat or coat thinking that it "will do" for next year, and when we take it out next year the moth has gotten into it, or it is so hopelessly out of date that we decide it will cost more to have it done over than to get a new garment.

People with attics fill them full of broken furniture, old rugs, old clothes, old books and magazines, until they can hardly move in all the clutter and dust of an accumulation of years. Spring cleaning time is upon us and wouldn't this be a good year to clear out all the rubbish. There are many things you will never use again that might be a godsend to somebody else. Poor people who are moving would welcome the carpets, the chairs, the odds and ends of dishes, baby carriages, toys or what have you stored away?

If you live in a small town there is usually a branch of the Salvation Army and if the town is too small even for that your clergyman will be glad of someone who will be sure of help.

Dresses and coats you can no longer use may be made over for children. Even remnants may be welcome for a baby so go through the trunks and the cupboards and the attics and get rid of the things you think you might want in the future, but do not need in the present.

And while you are at it, get rid of the old grudges and resentments. Clear out your soul as well as your material possessions. Forget the slights you have received;
forget the hatreds you have accumu-

WHERE TO SPEND AN ENJOYABLE VACATION

Canada This Year

Since the annual vacation has become a definite part of modern life, the decision as to where it will be spent is of considerable importance.
Canada has a particular appeal to the vacationist, for it has an unusual variety of attractions, which may be enjoyed at reasonable cost.

Recreation Areas Easily Reached
For most people, the summer vacation is limited to a few weeks and is usually shortened by the time used in travelling to and from the locality selected. Canada has an extensive system of good roads and excellent railway services, which greatly facilitate travel between provinces.

Attractions Cover Wide Range
Canada presents a striking diversity of natural features—the rugged and picturesque Atlantic coast; the St. Lawrence river and Great Lakes; the world's greatest inland waterway; the Laurentian mountains, land of forest and stream; the prairies;

the majestic Rockies; and the beautiful Pacific coast. Each of these areas has its own attractions of scenic beauty and opportunities for enjoyable recreation. Fishing, hunting, camping, canoeing and mountain-climbing may all be enjoyed under ideal conditions, while golf and tennis may be played practically everywhere. Accommodation includes everything from camp sites to luxurious hotels. Those to whom occasionary is a matter of concern may spend a pleasant vacation close to nature, at surprisingly small cost.

Travel Information Gladly Furnished
The National Development Bureau, Department of the Interior, at Ottawa, has prepared a series of automobile road maps, showing the main routes from one province to another,
also a number of interesting booklets, including "Vacations in Canada," which describe the tourist attractions of each province. These will be sent to any of our readers planning a vacation. Applicants should state the areas in which they are interested.

TOURIST TRADE BIG REVENUE

Nelson News devotes an editorial to "The Tourist Business," and quotes R. H. Coates Dominion Statistician, to this effect:

"The cost of tourist expenditure is very diversified. Retail business, gas and oil stations, garages, hotels,
restaurants amusement places,
sporting goods and clothing stores,
in fact all business in the localities affected is stimulated. So great, in fact, are the beneficial effects of "tourism" on business that it would seem to warrant a much greater consideration and more extensive efforts to increase it than at present."

Our Nelson contemporary then goes on to point out that small towns in British Columbia have felt the re-juvenating effect of tourist traffic, referring particularly to communities
along the Cariboo trail which, following the end of the gold rush of 30 or 40 years ago, fell very much into decay but have sprung again into prominence because the automobile has brought tourist traffic upon which they have been able to rebuild. As a result they are now developing other resources, and are pulsating with life after a long comatose.

Only a few of the larger cities and resorts in Alberta have as yet realized to the full the possibilities of tourist traffic. With us tourists are considered only a sideline, important in season, but nothing to become enthusiastic about. But Mr.

Coates is right. The business has such a widespread effect that any money spent by communities in advertising to increase it is certain to bring results. The more this is realized in Alberta the more will we be willing to spend in making our tourist attractions known to the world of automobile owners—Lethbridge Herald.

In a few days camps at both L.
Jasper and Lake Louise ends of the highway connecting these two points should be sufficiently far advanced to permit acceptance of single unemployed men from Edmonton and Calgary, declared Premier J. E.
Brownlee.

The provincial government taking over the milk industry in Manitoba, and running it as a public utility, will have no bearing on the price of milk
in the Bay line settlement at Pikwitigon. The one cow residing in this country has a monopoly on the milk industry there, and no price war can be waged despite the fact that milk
there costs 50c a quart. The cow, Betsy Jane, was brought north last year and supplied travellers on the Hudson Bay Railway trains with the only fresh milk along the 500-mile run.

Nasty Pimples Filled With

BURDOCK
BLOOD
BITTERS

When those nasty, mattery pimples come on the face their presence is a source of embarrassment to those afflicted.

Why then rest under this cloud
when there is an effective remedy for these facial defects.
Mr. N. Sissack, 303 Chalmers Ave., Winnipeg, Man., writes—"My face was covered with nasty pimples filled with matter.

I went to a doctor and he told me
his son had had his pimples cleared up by using Burdock Blood Bitters and advised me to use it. I got a

"Fresh from the Gardens"

Weekly Garden Letter

Spread Things Out

Twenty-five years ago, usually the "Twentyfourth" was set aside as the day for getting in the garden. The children were home from school then and might as well be out of mischief cutting up potatoes or planting peas. In many parts of the country, this was a good average time as it was warm enough to risk beans, corn and melons and yet not so late but the early things like peas, carrots and lettuce would still have a chance. Everything went in one afternoon in many cases, and all was ready for the table at about the same time. It was a sort of feast or a famine of fresh vegetables. But that is all changed today. Doctors have finally convinced the public of the vital necessity of green things in the diet at all times, and experienced gardeners have demonstrated that it is quite possible to produce these green things for at least six months of the year. The whole secret is to make successful plantings of the same vegetables, starting just as soon as the ground is fit to work, with the peas, spinach, radish, cress and lettuce, continuing with these about three times at intervals of ten days and gradually adding carrots, beets, beans, head lettuce, cabbage, Cos lettuce, Chinese cabbage, tomatoes, egg plants, lima beans, all types of corn with something going in right up to July. Consider corn for example. There are some very early types, like Sunshine, Early Market and Banner, which allow production even in the north. Along with these there are late maturing sorts which prolong the season at the other end, so that with different varieties and planting at three different times instead of once it is quite possible to spread the harvesting period over months. Even frost need not interfere if celery, green tomatoes on the vines, Brussels sprouts, rhubarb roots, carrots and beets in sand, and other things are properly stored in the fall.

The bean is another vegetable which should be spread more over the season. One can put in the first few rows after all danger of frost is over and continue planting at weekly intervals until the first of July. There are several types. There are the dwarf and the pole sorts, and among the ordinary varieties the yellow and the green. In recent years, people are turning more to the green bean which they consider of higher quality than the other. One can also plant Limas which should not go in until the weather really warms up, and there is also the broad bean which goes in fairly early. This broad bean makes a delicious vegetable, the pods being shelled like peas. The only thing to guard against with it are the aphids which attack the plant at flowering time. Spraying with nicotine sulphate (or Black Leaf 40) a few times will ward off this pest.

It is time now to think of the window boxes and hanging pots which will adorn the verandahs and house fronts this summer. There are two or three essentials here. The box or pot must be strong, and firmly attached because it is going to be heavy. Then too, there must be very rich soil, with plenty of fertilizer, as this sort of gardening is very intensive. Of equal importance is moisture, and this must be provided daily, and sometimes twice a day, as the evaporation, for all sides of the box or pot are exposed to the air, is exceedingly rapid. The window-box should be as long as the window and should be supported and arranged so that the top of it is almost flush with the window-sill. Otherwise, the foliage of the plants will soon fill up most of the window. There must be holes in the bottom of box and pot to provide drainage, and also a layer of gravel, cinders, broken crockery or similar material for the same purpose. If one can secure a supply of well-rotted manure, put this in next. Then add a top layer of rich soil. If there is no manure, use a fairly heavy application of a good garden fertilizer and repeat every month. The box, which should be at least seven inches deep and from eight to ten inches wide at the top, should be filled to within half an inch of the top. Along the front put in trailing nasturtiums, German ivy, lobelia, alyssum, and similar plants with peonies, ageratum, begonias, ferns, geraniums and other plants especially recommended for this purpose farther back. Shelter from the sun for a day or two until the plants get established.

Replanting
One is well advised to save a little seed of each variety from all plantings in order to fill in inevitable "misses" caused by drought, washings, or other things beyond control. In the perennial flower bed, there will also be gaps where winter-killing has occurred. These may be filled in with quick growing annuals.

ALBERTA RANCHER-EARL WAS SNUBBED BY COUNTRY GENTRY

London, May 19.—As a little group of people headed by one broken-hearted lad, his son, followed the body of Frederick Perceval, tenth Earl of Egmont, to the grave at Accoke Green, near Birmingham, where he was born, "Rink" was written to one of the strangest romances of the British peerage, and one of the most pathetic.

Ostracized by aristocratic "country" families of Hampshire society, ever since his return to England three years ago, Lord Egmont and his son lived the lives of hermits at Avon Castle. No neighbors from nearby great estates called on them. None made an effort to make easier the path which "Fred Perceval" had chosen for himself in his desire to fulfil what he considered the obligations of his inheritance. He came back from his Alberta ranch, he said, because of this and because of the duty he felt he owed his son who must now assume his father's burden.

Only among the simple villagers of Ringwood, near his castle, did the late earl make any friends. There sometimes he would talk wistfully to cronies in the local inn or store of his life on the Alberta farm. They liked him, although embarrassing him by the English villagers' ineradicable respect for a "title." He was always "Sir" even to them and never "Fred" of the Alberta days.

Many stories are told of his life at Ringwood. Once in a local inn he heard "People over here ain't used to Sir" I succeeded to the title I found I was expected to wash and shave four times daily, ride a poor downhearted-looking horse in the New Forest with a lot of funny looking gobs I didn't like and who didn't like me, dress like a dandy, attending an idiotic meeting about nothing and act generally as though I was daft. Three pints please, landlord."

Once he was asked why he lived in the kitchen and employed no servants or housekeeper. "Just because a housekeeper or butler would have no use for me," he said. "I'm not going to be bossed. I'm going to get up when I like, eat when I'm hungry, and do things that amuse me."

But Hampshire society could not surmount its dislike of this plain man's rough manners. He "did not fit," and so, though in his veins ran the blood of an English prime minister, he was outlawed. Probably none will ever know how deeply he was hurt by the treatment accorded him.

Some say that the gentry of Hampshire that they victimized the late earl by social snobbery are made by the Daily Express today. The paper declares that the death of the "loneliest peer in England" put an end to a drama of colorful social snobbery that had been played for the last three years.—Calgary Herald.

FAVOR PUBLIC OWNERSHIP

The report on the question of radio broadcasting at Ottawa, indicates a form of public ownership, without any large outlay.

A radio commission, of three or five members, will be suggested and vested with wide powers of control and aided with operation. Such operations as it may carry on will be financed out of the license fees. There are some 700,000 licenses, the fee being $2.00.

Outside of this, no capital outlay for the present is provided for, and it will be for the commission to deal with the existing stations, and the questions of their being taken over for full or part time.

The report is known to be satisfactory to public ownership advocates on the committee, considering the financial condition of the country. Moreover, it is likely to be the subject of legislation before the session closes.

BEFORE

Before you say a word that stings, Or randles in some heart, Before you toy with quarrellings, And from some old friend part. Remember that a kindly word Will all the trouble end. And that it's foolish and absurd To banish a good friend.

Before you cloud the sky of love With some unworthy deed, Before you slay trust's peaceful dove, Or make a fond heart bleed, Remember that you'll need some day The love you lightly spurn, And that, the now you may be gay, You'll suffer in your turn.

Before you chide a simple child, Or cause a single tear, Before you're tempted or beguiled At innocence to sneer, Think how much sunshine would be gone But for the childlike mind, And thank your stars for every one To whom you can be kind.

—A. B. Cooper.

ALBERTA APPROVES SCHEME SETTLING FAMILIES ON LAND

Plans for a proposed land settlement scheme, to absorb unemployed men with farm experience, are now under consideration by the Alberta government. A conference of ministers specially concerned in the administration of such a scheme, with department officials, was held at the parliament buildings and further meetings will follow.

This action results from advice received by Premier Brownlee in a communication from Hon. W. A. Gordon, federal minister of labor, to the effect that the Dominion government will be prepared to join in a plan to put suitable men on farms as a relief to the unemployment situation. The co-operation of the province and its municipalities will be essential to the scheme.

Conditions upon which the Dominion will enter into such an effort are set forth in the Ottawa offer, with a draft agreement that will be signed by the three parties if finally accepted by all.

The Dominion will take a share of one-third, it is stated by Mr. Gordon on a maximum allowance of $600 per family, the other two-thirds to be borne by the province and the municipalities interested.

But this advance there is to be a maximum of $500 in the first year, holding back $100 for sustenance purposes in the second year. No part of the amount, it is provided, is to be spent in rentals or for purchase of land.

Another important condition of the offer is that there must be in each province an advisory committee, on which the soldiers' settlement board and the colonization departments of the two railways are to be represented. The additional representation will be at the discretion of the province. When thus set up and at work, this committee will receive and deal with all application before being referred to Ottawa.

Premier Brownlee says that the provincial government will agree to the settlement scheme as suggested and will co-operate in getting it under way. Plans will be made as rapidly as possible, and as soon as the advisory committee is named the government will call a meeting with the larger municipalities to ascertain their attitude for the part they will take in the scheme.

The personnel of the advisory committee is now being considered, and through its various departments the government is also securing information about lands available for settlement purposes.

It will be obviously impossible, the premier points out to get the committee appointed and at work, suitable lands located, and men selected from applications, in time for settlers to get a crop off the land this year.

In this connection, he adds, considerable care will have to be exercised, for the reason that not every unemployed man, even with some farming experience, will make good on the land. It is likely that most of the lands available for the purpose will be in areas requiring more or less clearing, and that too will put a crop this season out of the question.

Prompt action will be taken, however, to make a tri-party agreement is reached.

Illusions, and here goes another one. A local man told us Monday that a government investigation carried out last year had shown this irritation to be due to a parasite that infests the muskrat, after completing a portion of its life cycle in the shallow water around the edges of our sloughs and fresh water lakes.

The cootie, or whatever it is, only lives for a week or so on human beings, but the interesting part of the report is that it can be easily controlled in its native habitat, by dragging a bag of whetstone through the water of the lake a few times.

So the prospect is that the youngsters who paddle in the shallows at Dillberry lake next summer will have a perfectly good time.—Provoost News.

EXPECTING BUMPER CROP OF FRUITS

Ottawa, May 20.—Fruit trees generally have survived the winter in excellent condition with practically no injury in evidence, the department of agriculture reports Thursday following a survey of the principal producing districts in the dominion.

The report says the appearance and plentiful supply of fruit buds indicate the possibility of good average crops provided growing conditions are satisfactory.

Conditions in British Columbia point to a very heavy yield of apples, and peaches and cherries give promise of a heavier yield than in 1931, while pears and apricots are expected to be lighter.

GOVERNMENT LETS CONTRACTS FOR JASPER HIGHWAY WORK

Contracts have been let by the department of public works for two sections of the Jasper highway which will, when completed, give a motor road practically all the way from the Saskatchewan border to Edson.

Sixteen miles of graveling on the Elk Island park section will be done by J. B. Starky of Edmonton, who has already begun work. Gravel was laid last year to the boundary of the park, through Clover Bar, and the new contract will complete to the corner west of Mundare, where connection will be made with the old road. This is the short cut past and through the park, giving a direct route from Edmonton to Vegreville.

Gravel will be taken for the purpose by truck haul from the government pit at Clover Bar. For the eastern section of the highway, between Klisecy and Lloydminster, crushed rock from field boulders is being used, there being no gravel supply available. Work on this project is also under way and will continue all summer.

PHEASANTS FREED IN CAMROSE AREA

A lot of 4 pairs of ring-necked pheasants from the provincial farm at Oliver have been released on the Hartley and Twomey farm by the shore of Dried Meat lake in the Camrose district. H. A. Craig, deputy minister, and G. M. Cornie, provincial poultry commissioner, who were present, said the location was a very favorable one. The 20 pair that were released south of the city near the Golf and Country club appear to be thriving and some of these pretty and extremely wild birds have been seen by several citizens.

PONOKA BEATS WETASKIWIN IN GOOD BALL EXHIBITION

Ponoka's baseball nine came to Wetaskiwin on Thursday evening last for a friendly exhibition with the local team. Considering the unfavorable weather a very good exhibition was staged, with the visitors having a slight advantage. The game was featured by heavy hitting and snappy fielding, many long drives which looked like two and three baggers being pulled out of the air. The score was Ponoka 2, Wetaskiwin 1. Dittmeier pitched very effectively for Ponoka, and Farwell pitched very well for Wetaskiwin. Clarence Gouche gave good satisfaction as umpire. The line-up was: Ponoka, Stoddard, c; Bures, ss; Sutherland, 2b; Lewis, 1b; Sweet, 1b; Arison, cf; Hobbs, rf; Krefling, 3b; Dittmeier, p. WOMAN SEES MILITARISM IN PUBLIC SCHOOL

Ottawa, May 21.—Cadet training in schools was attacked in the house of commons yesterday as the thin edge of militarism. Especially in these days of distress and privation, it was impossible to justify an expenditure of $210,000 when many schools were closed. Hon. D. M. Sutherland, minister of national defence, was advised.

Leading the attack on cadet training was Miss Agnes MacPhail, Canada's only woman member. Even if the country could afford the money, the work should not continue, she said. It was a "terrible waste of money," and even from a military point of view, cadet training was a failure. "It doesn't make soldiers."

NATURE'S OWN HUMIDIFIER

A live tree is about one-half water by weight. An acre of maple trees evaporates about 2700 gallons of water a day. Pines and spruces evaporate about a tenth as much. Such a constant discharge of water influences rainfall over the forest and areas adjacent thereto. The soil beneath a forest lets loose its moisture only a third as fast as soil in the open country. Thus it comes that deforested land is a bad feeder of streams, giving off its water content rapidly and dangerously, whereas the streams fed by adjacent forests maintain their level and purity the whole summer through.

Mr. Pete Breglin, manager of the Thirby cheese factory, has been driving the country, north, south, east and west, but more particularly throughout the north west. His capable assistant, Mr. Malvina Arthur, informs us that Pete is looking over the proposed milk routes, but our ideas run along different channels. The flowers that bloom in the spring are Thirby correspondents.

SENATE BANS BEER IN U.S.

Washington, May 13.—The United States Senate Wednesday refused to legalize beer.

The first Senate roll call for beer since prohibition brought overwhelming defeat. The measure was on an amendment by Senator Tydings, Democrat, Missouri, to the Revenue bill to legalize 2.75 beer and tax it 24 cents a gallon to help finance a $1,500,000,000 public construction programme.

ONLY TEN FARMERS IN THIS PART OF ALBERTA PAY DOMINION TAX

Only ten farmers in that part of the province north of Red Deer have paid Dominion income taxes for 1931, according to official figures issued Monday by Inspector C. S. Kilgour, according to an Edmonton paper, their total payment was $450.00.

Last year 12 farmers reported themselves as being taxable and paid in $351. There are 279 farmers who claim to be non-assessable, compared with 256 the year previous.

An analysis of the returns from all sources from April 1 to May 5 gives an estimated payment for the year of $264,000 compared with $320,000 at the same time last year. This is a decrease of $56,000 on returns at the same date in the year previous.

CHURCHILL PORT NEARING COMPLETION

The last big construction drive Churchill port will see, is under way now, according to reports from Manitoba's seaport. Final touches are being put on the northern terminal of the 500-mile Hudson Bay Railway, and forces of the railway and department of railways and canals are combining to prepare this port for wheat shipments out of and imports into Canada this season. Late this month a new phase in the development of the port will be reached, when employees of the Manitoba government arrive to prepare the wharves for the official opening this summer.

SEARCH FOR DROUGHT RESISTANT WHEAT

An intensive search for drought resistant wheat is being made by the University of Alberta. This is the first attempt made in Canada to develop an intensive plant breeding program with drought resistance as its primary objective. And yet the losses from drought in the prairie provinces have been very great. Dr. O. S. Aamodt, of the University of Alberta gave a report covering the University's plans for overcoming the drought damage in wheat. In 1925, the University received a number of Russian wheat varieties which were developed for growing in areas with limited precipitation. A breeding program is being carried on in order to combine high quality with the drought resistance of these varieties.

MOTOR CRASH VICTIM DIES IN HOSPITAL

Miss Jessie Shaw, 32, of 11523 96 street, Edmonton, who was injured last Monday in an automobile smash-up on "Death's Corner" of the Edmonton-Calgary highway, died in the University hospital at 4 a.m. Sunday after a brave battle through the week for her life.

FIRST WOMAN FLIES ATLANTIC

London, May 21.—The Press association reported from Londonderry, Ireland, that Amelia Earhart Putnam, solo trans-Atlantic flyer, had landed there. She had had trouble with her exhaust manifold which had burned out.

Her monoplane was reported undamaged.

"I had this trouble (with the exhaust manifold) for about 10 hours," the Press Association quoted Mrs. Putnam, "and for a lot of the way I was flying through storms—mist, rain and a little fog."

When Mrs. Putnam landed, the Press Association said, she declared "I've done it."

"I had to land here in the pastures outside Londonderry. I'm not a bit hurt, and I think the plane is all right. I had trouble with my exhaust manifold, which had burned out."

"In addition the gasoline gauge had broken, probably in the storm last night, and there was a little leakage, so I decided to come down I landed in an open field."

FINAL DECREE OF DIVORCE GRANTED

Several members of the delegation expressed their views in this connection. The council gave the petition a hearing but as the signers represented only about 10 per cent of the ratepayers, 80 per cent of which were resident of one division, their requests could not be granted.—Posoka Herald.

WEEKLY STOCK MARKET REPORT

The following is a weekly report of the Edmonton Stock Yard, as supplied to The Times for the week ending May 24th:

Receipts: Cattle, 445; Calves, 125; Hogs, 1637; Sheep, 366.

The market today opened brisk, with buyers quite active and salesmen finding no difficulty in placing their offerings readily and to good advantage. Sales indicate that prices are fully steady to strong, and in spots about 25¢ higher, especially on fed calves, and the market generally is showing a firmer undertone. The following are the prices:

The general run of good fed calves selling at $4.75 to $5.00; choice would bring a little more; medium kinds from $4.00 to $4.50. The general run of good butcher steers $4.50 to $4.75; medium $4.00 to $4.25; common to fair $3.00 to $3.75, and as low as $2.50 for undesirable. Good butcher heifers $4.25 to $4.50; mediums $3.75 to $4.00; good heaves $3.25 to $3.50; and common to fair $2.50 to $3.25. The general run of good butcher cows $3.00 to $3.25; common to medium $2.00 to $2.75; canners and cuters $1.00 to $1.75; bulls $1.00 to $1.50, old ones bringing a little more.

The stocker market is inclined to be a slow affair, with trading on the drab side due principally to the poor quality of the offerings. Prices remain about steady. The general run of stocker steers and heifers selling at $2.00 to $2.50; and as low as $2.25 for undesirable. Stocker cows $2.25 to $2.75.

There is a better tone noticeable on the calf market. The general run of good weaners selling at $4.50 to $5.00; medium $4.00 to $4.25; and common to fair from $2.50 to $3.50.

No material change noticeable on the hog market. Very few hogs on offer today. A few trucked in sold at $3.00 for the bacon. Selects bringing a premium of 50¢ per hundred and mediums $2.75 to $2.85; and cuters $2.00 per hundred.

The cuts of off-grade hogs remain the same and are as follows: Heavies discounted 75¢ per hundred; extra heavies discounted $1.25 per hundred; No. 2 sows $1.25 per hundred; roughs discounted $2.00 per hundred and cures $2.00 per hundred.

Lamb market stronger. Loads last week of butcher lambs sold at $5.50 to $6.55. The general run quoted from $5.50 to $6.00; yearlings $4.00 to $5.00, and ewes $3.00 to $4.00.

HIGHWAY SIGNS ARE INCREASED

Edmonton, May 19.—Highways throughout the province are to be given additional marking in the way of directional signs that the public works department will place at the junctions of main and district highways, leading off to important points, lakes and other centres of interest. The work of installation will begin at once.

The new signs will correspond in design and color with the official road marking signs already installed, having black lettering on yellow background.

Not only will the signs indicate the directions to take to the various points from each junction, but the distances in each case will be given as well.

NOTICE TO HORSE BREEDERS

The following Stallions will stand for mares for the season 1932, at the Fair Grounds Barn after May 23rd, namely:

DEWEY NO. 11674. Fee $8.00 to insure in foal.

BRIILLANT NO. 9969. Fee $8.00 to insure in foal.

BLAINE NO. 12125. Fee $10.00 to insure in foal.

These horses are noted throughout the Wetaskiwin district for sure and good foal getters, and have produced the best colts that ever have been raised in the Wetaskiwin districts. These horses have about 1300 colts to their credit, and everyone very much satisfied with the stock.

TRACHOMA DANGER HERE DISCOUNTED

There evidently is little danger of Indians in this district being affected by trachoma, dread eye disease which was discovered on the Stony reserve at Morley, in southern Alberta, according to M. Christianson, inspector of Indian affairs for Alberta, who has arrived in Edmonton.

There are some 12,000 Indians on reserves in Alberta and the Northwest Territory, which comprise the district of which Mr. Christianson has charge. He says the Indians as a whole are not on relief, food supplies having been required in only a few cases.

MANY PASTORS SEEK CHANGE THIS SUMMER

There is likely to be a considerable number of changes in the pastorates of United churches at the coming conference on May 25th, Medicine Hat, Lethbridge, Olds, Carleton Place, Edmonton (4 churches), Coronation, Strome and Okotoks being amongst the places where pastors are asking for a change. The average term of service in these cases is about four years.

The Doukhobors

Doukhobors is a name given by the Russian Orthodox clergy to a community of nonconformist peasants. The word signifies "spirit-fighters." They gave up this name and now call themselves "Christians of the Universal Brotherhood."

They were first heard of in the middle of the eighteenth century. By the beginning of the nineteenth century their teaching had become clearly defined and their numbers so increased that the Russian government and church looked on them with disfavor and started a campaign against them. For their beliefs and practices the Doukhobors long endured persecution, banishment and exile. Under Nicholas I, in 1840 and 1850, the Doukhobors, who refused military service, were banished from the government of Taurus near Transcaucasia, near the Turkish frontier. In 1855, under Czar Nicholas II, the Doukhobors suffered severe persecution, Cossack soldiers plundered and maltreated both men and women in every way. Over 400 families living in the province of Tiflis were ruined and banished. Thousands were killed and over 100 died in two years from exhaustion and disease. Relief came through Count Leo Tolstoy and his friends, and through them from the "Society of Friends" in England. Money was raised to relieve suffering, public opinion was informed and the government appealed to. The Doukhobors asked permission to leave Russia.

In 1898 this permission was granted and there started a series of migrations—the first to Cyprus in the summer of 1898. The following year, 1899, two parties, numbering over 4000, arrived in Canada. About 7500 Doukhobors immigrated to Canada. They now number about 10,000. The Canadian government assisted in their settlement and gave them land near Yorkton, Thunder Hill and Prince Albert. There are now colonies in South Alberta and British Columbia near Nelson. At Yorkton in 1907 the Doukhobors established one of the largest and best brick-making plants in Canada.

In their history unity has not been easy and small bodies periodically break from the main community. The nuclei in the sect are not the main body of Doukhobors. Peter Veregin was opposed to nude processions, and those who have practiced them in recent years have been expelled from the parent organization. It has been said, "This group call themselves 'The Sons of Freedom.' They break out every now and again and shock the Canadian communities near them by these striking, protest exhibitions. They have a belief in their cult that there is nothing unlovely about the human form, and that naked it typifies truth, pure and unadorned. The exhibitions are made usually in connection with the celebration of the sacrament of bread and water, with ritual and singing, and processions accompanying."

The central belief in the Doukhobor teaching is the belief that the spirit of God is present in the soul of man and directs him by its word within him. Their whole teaching is penetrated by the spirit of love and equality, every man being a bearer of the divine spirit. When living in harmony with the standard of their faith, they approach very closely to the realization of the Christian ideal. They are strict vegetarians, and eat no meat, shedding no blood. Their diet consists of nuts, herbs, fruit and vegetables, with milk and eggs. They even reject leather shoes because the skins of animals must go into their manufacture. They are teetotalers and they do not smoke tobacco. It is almost an unforgivable sin for a Doukhobor man or woman to use profane language under any circumstances.

JUDGE NOT THAT

YE BE NOT JUDGED

(By Arthur B. Rithow)

A young, unmarried minister at a one time preached a sermon on the proper way of bringing up children. Years afterward, when he was the father of four daughters, he told the writer that his ideas on the subject had undergone a change.

"No two children are alike," he said, "and their peculiarities often call for a considerable modification of general rules." Before he was married he had dealt with theories and facts as stubborn things.

How easy it is for aloof critics to score the people who are in the thick of it, and how futile.

Yes, yes, my dear critic. You would be perfectly right if human beings were bricks, but they are not even stones. In spite of all our advances in psychology, every human being is a mystery to every other human being, and every man, woman and child helps to complicate the church problem. Better come in and help in the work. Your criticism may turn into charity.

"If I had the running of this city, one of the first things I would do would be to—," and so forth and so forth.

Well, brother, maybe you would and maybe you wouldn't. But your views as to the practical affairs of the city would certainly undergo a change, because, again, you would be dealing with human beings and not merely with streets and bridges and wharves. Criticism is proper, but let the critic remember that it is hard for the man on the outside to appreciate the difficulties of the men actually in the work.

"If I were he, believe me, I'd do different."

What you really mean to say is, "If I were he and still I, I would not do as he does." But you see that is impossible. You are not he, and you certainly cannot be you and he at the same time. Not one of us can entirely put himself into the other fellow's place. Then we had better be chary with our criticism.

WM. RUUSKA SENTENCED TO 12 YEARS IN PENITENTIARY

Twelve years in the penitentiary for the razor-slaying of his wife, Olga Ruuska, in the Fairview hotel, Edmonton, February 27, was the sentence passed on William Ruuska, 58, by Chief Justice Simmons.

The sentence came when a jury found Ruuska guilty of manslaughter. He had been tried on a murder charge. The decision came after exactly two hours of deliberations on the part of the jury.

THE EGYPTIAN OVEN AND THE MODERN INCUBATOR

(Experimental Farms Note)
A glance at the up-to-date incubators now in general use would lead one to believe that this descendant is a long way removed from its ancestor, the old Egyptian hatching oven that was in operation thousands of years before Christ and is still used in that Old Land.

The ancient incubator is really a mud house in which everything is done from the inside, the eggs are placed in a separate room, the heat is applied from within, and the operator does his work from the inside as well. The modern incubator has the heat automatically applied from without, and instead of a smudge burning for days to raise the temperature high enough so that the eggs may be put in, a button is pressed and electricity quickly heats the egg chamber to the desired temperature. The Egyptian, sweltering in a temperature of 103, and crouched in a very uncomfortable position, turned the eggs by hand, one by one. The modern attendant touches a lever and the whole lot is turned in an instant. Nor has the attendant today to guess at the temperature of the egg chamber as was the case—and still is—in the old style; a thermometer in plain view indicates the exact temperature and a thermostat keeps it at any given point by automatically turning the electricity off and on. In the old incubator humidity was introduced by means of moist straw or by sprinkling water on the floor and walls. Humidity is modernized in the reservoir and the electric fan.

Yes, it's a long way from the incubator of adobe, without light or ventilation, with heat supplied by smouldering manure, where the almost naked attendant, in a sweltering heat, crawls around to do his work, to the modern and efficient incubators of today contrived and managed in ease and comfort. Yes, it's a long way, except in the percentage of healthy, living chicks hatched.

MISS McMAHAN ACQUITTED OF MANSLAUGHTER

Edmonton, May 26. — Miss Bernita McMahon, 24, was acquitted by a jury in the criminal court on Friday evening of manslaughter in connection with the death of Miss Faye Christensen, 21, of Edmonton, following a two-way auto crash on the Edmonton-Calgary highway, three miles north of Leduc, on Sunday, April 10 last.

The jury deliberated for 40 minutes before returning to the court room with the verdict. Miss McMahon heard the pronouncement of her acquittal quietly, although as soon as the trial was over and she was grasped by the hand on all sides.

In discharging Miss McMahon Mr. Justice Frank Ford, who presided at the trial, made no comment.

The two young nurses who were with Miss McMahon at the time her hired coach collided with the car in which Miss Christensen was being driven both testified.

The first, Margaret Lindsay, told of the uneventful drive to Wetaskiwin during their 10 to 3 o'clock leave on Sunday, April 10.

"Miss McMahon drove at between 30 and 35 miles an hour on the way down and the same speed on the way back, with reduced speed at curves and going through towns," said Miss Lindsay.

"We had lunch at a cafe and then saw Dr. Claxton for a few minutes, leaving at 1 o'clock by Mr. Claxton's watch. We stopped at Leduc for two or three minutes for a soft drink, and then went on at the same speed as before."

Miss Lindsay gave unequivocal denial to the suggestion that any of them had liquor in any form that day or had any in the car.

She received three scalp wounds in the collision and explained her cry, "Mac, why weren't you more careful?" as meaning that she feared her appearance would be ruined by the wounds.

The other passenger, Josephine Creighton, who had been singing with Miss Lindsay on the way home, confirmed Miss Lindsay's evidence, as did Dr. Claxton, who had received a long distance call that morning from Miss McMahon and had driven over to see them for a few minutes.

THE OLD DAIRY COW

The farmer's best friend is the old dairy cow;

If she owes a debt, she will pay it somehow;

She grazes the roadside to eke out her life

And works without wages the same as his wife.

Though Jersey or Holstein or Short-horn her breed,

Hard work is her habit and thrift is her creed;

And if, when she comes home at night to the barn,

You praise her, or blame her, she doesn't give a darn.

She always has something to add to your pelf;

She brings in the coupons, just clip them yourself;

Get out the old milkstool, sit down with a bump,

Grab hold of her handles and un-pet-pump.

And if, in her efforts to brush off a fly,

She happens to switch her tail spang in your eye;

She murmurs "Beg pardon" politely and then

Goes on with her chewing—and does it again.

She helps with the living and keeps us all fat.

The hired man, the baby, the pig and the cat;

Then takes the surplus to town, and by heck,

The creamery gives him a wonderful cheque.

And when she is ready to die of old age

The butcher writes "finis" at the end of her page;

Then back to our table she comes, I'll be bound,

In prime ribs and steaks that cost thirty a pound.

All hail to the heifer, the steer and the calf,

The curly-faced bull, with his bangs full of chaff,

But when at your evening devotion you bow,

Give thanks for that treasure—the old dairy cow.

Astonishing discoveries of plans for capture of Ministers were made at Sydney N.S.W., by officers who have raided for a second time the offices of the headquarters of the "New Guard," a Fascist, anti-Communist body formed more than a year ago and now claimed to have more than 100,000 members.

In 1832 "The Seven Men of Preston" signed the first total Abstinence Pledge which read: "We agree to abstain from all liquors of an intoxicating quality." Latest reliable statistics place the number of abstainers in the Motherland at eight millions. During 1932 there is to be held a centenary celebration. Already Philip Snowden, Gilbert Murray, G. B. Shaw and George Parsh have signed this century old pledge and other like signatures will be secured to complete the "Seven Men of 1932."

Among the many items of interest there will be a great National Centenary Festival at the Crystal Palace on June 18, with two choirs of juveniles and adults each 5,000 strong. These celebrations will conclude with a national thanksgiving service in Westminster Abbey on Oct. 22nd. The leading events will be broadcast. The general discontent with Government in Canada which is finding expression recently, notably in Nova Scotia and Alberta in favor of local option, is growing apace.

It is stated in the annual liquor report that the law enforcement staff while under capable supervision, is inadequate to suppress the traffic in the manufacture and sale of illicit liquor and that prevailing economic condition have intensified the problem. Yet the Law Enforcement staff consist of 25. At Edmonton, supervisor and chief enforcement officer received $4000 a year, two officers $1920 and $1800, 13 at $5 a day, stenographers $180 and $960. At Calgary, Preventive Officer $2700, three at $5 a day, Peace River, Preventive Officer, $2100; Lethbridge, Preventive Officers, one at $2100, one at $5 a day. Was ever the liquor traffic known to be law abiding?

THE TOWEL

The germs of disease must gain entrance into our bodies before they can cause harm. If we are to protect ourselves against disease germs, we must take precautions to keep these our enemies, from penetrating beyond the outside of our bodies, where they are harmless. It is our own hands which frequently give germs their opportunity to gain entrance into our bodies. In the ordinary course of our daily lives, our hands come into contact with many objects; we touch and handle many things which may have been soiled by the secretions of other persons. In shaking hands, substances which may be on the hand of one individual are transferred to the hand of another.

It is obvious that we are very likely to have on the surface of our hands the germs of disease. As long as the germs remain there, they can do us no harm, but once they pass our lips, they are given the opportunity to cause trouble.

If you will watch a number of people, you will see that most of them frequently put their hands to their faces. They touch their lips or their nostrils; some even put their fingers in their mouths. Food which is touched when it is being prepared, or in eating, carries with it into the mouth whatever was deposited on it by the hands.

To prevent the dangers arising out of such habits, we advise that no one touch food unless the hands have been washed thoroughly and also that the hands be kept away from the face, unless the handkerchief is being used.

Washing the hands properly means more than dipping them into water and wiping them on a towel. When we say wash the hands, we mean a thorough washing with soap and water and the use of a nail brush until the skin is clean and the nails are clean.

When the hands are clean as a result of washing, they should then be dried on a clean towel. Even after washing, the hands are not clean in the sense of being free from all germs. So it is that these germs which have been left on the hands are wiped off on the towel. If the towel is used by a second person, then this person, in wiping his hands, rubs onto them germs left on the towel by the first user.

This may appear to some of our readers to be rather far-fetched, but we assure them that there is no exaggeration because it does happen. Towels should be used on a personal basis, each person having and using only his own towel. By taking such simple precautions, we can help to protect ourselves against disease germs.

Wash your hands before eating and use only your own towel.

Questions concerning Health, addressed to the Canadian Medical Association, 184 College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter.

KANSAS CROP POOR

With wheat harvesting in Kansas but one month away we are informed by United States authorities that it will take perfect weather to produce 87 million bushels in that state where a 224 million bushel crop was harvested last year. Conditions in Nebraska and Colorado are worse than in Kansas and in Oklahoma almost as bad. Texas, which produced such a big crop last year (58 million bushels) will not raise more than 35 million bushels this year. The results of the publication of this serious situation was that wheat advanced a couple of cents on the exchanges.

TO BRING BACK PROSPERITY

If we allow ourselves to believe that some intangible, mysterious thing called "recovery" is going to improve our lot without any assistance from ourselves we will soon lose the touch. The last three years have chastened the instinct for laziness which is one of our racial disadvantages. The last three years has driven the well-dressed idler into work or obscurity. The last three years has forced us to place sport and recreation generally in their proper relation to the stubborn realities of life. We cannot afford to abandon the stern discipline we have learned. Harder work and better work is the only way to reach the promised land of prosperity. By the sweat of our brow alone will we get things going again.—Daily Express, London, England.

HILLSIDE U.F.A.

The regular monthly meeting was held at the home of J. O. Harvey on May 12th, there being a large turnout of members.

Final arrangements were made for shipping a carload of potatoes and vegetables to the relief area.

A letter was read from the secretary of the Wetaskiwin Federal Constabulary Association regarding the annual convention to be held in Ponoka, June 21st. It was decided to leave the matter of electing delegates until the next regular meeting.

It was decided to hold the half holiday during the coming summer on Wednesday's, commencing June 1st. A unanimous vote of thanks was passed to L. E. Marr for his attitude in regards to the sports grounds.

It was decided to hold the annual picnic on Wednesday, June 15th, at H. G. Young's farm, half mile north of the Hillside school.

It was agreed to continue the Potatoes Club, and that an effort be made to raise a carload of potatoes for sale in the fall.

The next meeting of the local will be held at the home of W. C. Dowdell on Thursday, June 9th.

CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION IS FINALLY DISBANDED

Acting upon the unanimous report of the committee which delved into the matter of the civil service commission, the House of Commons on Thursday last, after a prolonged debate, finally adopted the resolution which has the effect of disbanding the present civil service commission. Just when they will actually quit is a matter of doubt, however, as some one has to carry on the work until such time as a commissioner is appointed. If, as many expect, the new civil service commission will be a one-man job.

The report in addition removes from the supervision of the commission four thousand postmasters throughout Canada. Already six thousand were considered not to be under the commission, and in actual practice practically all postmasters with the exception of the staff of city offices have been outside the scope of the civil service. They have not benefitted by the operation of the civil servants retirement fund, their appointments and discharge has always been more a matter of patronage, faintly disguised, and forced through the commission, whether willingly or unwillingly. Of these latter, the removal is described as being those persons having an annual revenue of $5,000 or less, though in actual practice this has included practically all offices except those in cities.

Another feature of the report means the abandonment of the soldier's preference in the smaller offices.

The section of the report affecting postmasters was made at the suggestion of the post office department itself, which has found no end of difficulty with the dual arrangement of past years, where appointments were made by patronage and merely justified with civil service regulations.

During the course of the debate severe criticism was offered by E. J. Garland, of Bow River, who offered an amendment to strike out the clause affecting postmasters. Several Liberal members voiced their protest over the clause and with the premier and the leader of the opposition both gave their followers a free hand in the voting, regardless of party lines. Following this the amendment was voted down, although a majority of the Conservatives were on the opposing side and a majority of the Liberals supporting the amendment. Afterward the full report was accepted without division, and the old civil service commission, whose concept in virtue has been followed by years of prostitution to political patronage, was finally placed on the skids for relegation to the limbo of abandoned ambitions.

The U.F.W.A. held their May meeting at the home of Mrs. Harvey. Owing to the busy time there was a small attendance. Due to the illness of the president, Mrs. Young, the chair was taken by the vice-president Mrs. L. W. Marr. Each one answered the roll call with a "Tribute to Mother." Mrs. Hoskins gave a report on "Home Economics." A splendid paper by Mrs. H. Marr on "Raising a Family" was greatly enjoyed. At the close of the meeting a dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Howard Marr.

FIGURES OF WORLD UNEMPLOYMENT

The International Labour office estimated at the end of last year that in the 25 countries for which estimates were available, there were from 20,000,000 to 25,000,000 unemployed. Recently the Independent Labour office has issued additional information, showing that a further increase of unemployment has been recorded by practically every country since that date.

The increase is particularly low in Great Britain, partly due to administrative changes in unemployment insurance. In Germany, on the other hand the total now exceeds 6,000,000, the percentage increase in the last twelve months being considerable.

France shows the highest percentage increase of all countries, her total figure of wholly unemployed well exceed the million mark. The figure recorded for Italy now exceeds 1,000,000 for the first time.

RECIPES

(By Barbara B. Brooks)
Of all desserts which are your favorite? Nine out of ten men say "PIE". A good number of women would probably vote the same way if they weren't counting calories and therefore rather shy about admitting a preference in which they dare not indulge.
Pie is always acceptable as a dessert no matter what the season. We are sometimes reluctant about serving it in warm weather because we dislike to heat an oven. This is no longer an excuse for not having it because there are the uncooked varieties, the ones which require no heat. They are sometimes called refrigerator pies.

Refrigerator pies usually have crumb crusts. Corn flake crumbs are excellent for this purpose. They have a good color and add a distinctive flavor. The crust may be made in two different ways.

Corn Flake Pastry I.
1 cup corn flake crumbs, ¼ cup butter, ¼ cup sugar. Cream butter and sugar and add crumbs, kneading thoroughly. Press into pie tins.
Corn Flake Pastry II.
1 cup corn flake crumbs, ¼ cup sweetened condensed milk. Combine the ingredients thoroughly and press into pie tins.

tablespoons powdered sugar. Blend milk with lemon juice. Fold in strawberries. Pour into nine inch pie tin lined with Corn Flake Pastry II. Chill. Serve with whipped cream sweetened with the powdered sugar. The above recipe can be made with raspberries, blackberries, or blueberries. It can also be made with two medium sized bananas cut into pieces.

A lemon pie made in a similar manner is delicious.

WINS CONGOLEUM RUG

Mrs. G. Saffran of Ferintosh, was the winner of the Congoelum rug given away in the contest conducted by Brody's Limited, which came to a close on May 14th. The envelope, which was opened by the judges contained the number 498, and it was found there were five who guessed number 500. The rules of the draw required that these five be requested to stand in another guess, and the second sealed envelope contained number 3768, and Mrs. Saffran's guess was found to be the nearest to that number.

"ALL-BRAN LIVES UP TO REPUTATION"

Her Constipation Overcome by This Delicious Cereal

If you are troubled with constipation, read Miss Bundy's enthusiastic letter:

"I would like to congratulate the one who discovered ALL-BRAN. It really does live up to its reputation when it is said to 'relieve constipation.'"

"I used to feel poor all the time—just down and out—and after reading an advertisement in a magazine about ALL-BRAN I got a box. It has evermore helped me, and it is not hard at all to eat."—Miss Mary Bundy (address upon request).

Laboratory tests show ALL-BRAN helps two things which need to correct common constipation: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help tone the intestinal tract. ALL-BRAN also furnishes iron for the blood.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass which it clears the intestines of wastes.

How much safer than taking pills and drugs—so often harmful. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. Two tablespoons daily will overcome most types of constipation. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Use as a cereal, or in cooking. Recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

MANAGER WHYTE & ORR

HUGHENDEN STORE

FOUND DEAD IN RUINS

Hughenden, May 22.—Fire broke out in this town today, shrouded a death in mystery, brought serious damage to the town and caused damage of between $40,000 and $50,000 when six buildings on Main street were laid flat and two dwelling houses destroyed.

The charred body of Elmer Swenson, 14 years resident of the town and manager of the Whyte & Orr Hardware store, was discovered by searchers after flames early today wrecked part of the business section.

A partly burned rifle, with one shell discharged, was found beside the body.

An investigation into Swenson's death is under way. Dr. Murray, corner of Sedgewick, and Constable Cotterill, Hardisty detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, viewed the body and have started inquiries.

It was indicated Swenson went to the store about 7 o'clock on the morning, less than half an hour before the fire broke out in the Whyte & Orr store.

While practically all of Hughenden's population of 250, along with volunteers from nearby points, fought the blaze, a clockwork series of events brought from afar, causing serious injuries to D. Blockin and Jimmy Blockin, brothers, who came from Czar to fight the fire. Both are receiving medical attention and are expected to recover.

The firefighters succeeded in quenching the blaze after it had razed six buildings and two homes with a damage toll between $40,000 and $50,000. The homeless, including Mr. Swenson's wife and mother, his only survivors, are being cared for by neighbors.

WHERE BUTTER IS DEAR

Long queues of women are forming daily in Moscow again because of the serious shortage of butter, milk, eggs and sugar. After a year in which these lines of waiting housewives had been almost eliminated, they have been brought back to the doors of the so-called commercial stores by the thousands. The commercial stores are government-owned, but are distinct from the ordinary rationed government shops, from which dairy products have virtually disappeared. The
